FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1892.

U. S. Senator Gibson, of Arkansas, died last Friday.

Hon. Jas. G. Blaine is thought to be on his death. He is expected to live but a short time.

A Worthy Applicant.

Hon. A. W. Bascom, of Bath county, a prominent Democrat, will be an applicant for Internal Revenue Collector for this district. From his reputation we judge that he would make an officer such as even his opponents would be proud of for the party and state's sake. He deserves recognition at the hands of the party and the fact that he is not from Lexington, where this patronage has always gone in his favor, so far as the people are concerned.

Pensions From Two Points of View.

In palliation of the monstrous fact that there are now on the pension rolls nearly a million names and nearly another million struggling to get on, Commissioner Raum feels to remark that:

"A casual consideration of the great change in the mode of the lives of these men and the conditions to which military life in time of war subjected them must suggest that the strain upon the life powers of the soldier was so great as to make permanent inroads upon the vital forces which would necessarily result in the development of a multitude of ailments and disabilities beyond the reach of medicine. It is this class of citizens who now constitute the great body of those who are on the pension rolls; good health and the ability to perform labor were their capital; when these were gone they were in a great measure deprived of their means of support. A very large proportion of the men who carried the muskets have been unable to keep up with their neighbors who remained at home in the great struggle of life, and the claims of these persons for assistance from the Government rest upon the broadest foundation of justice."

On the other hand, a casual consideration will show that there are now more names on the Union pension rolls than were ever borne at any one time by the muster rolls of the Confederate army, and that there will soon be more persons drawing pensions for disabilities received in the Federal service than composed all the Confederate armies during the entire four years of the war. The Union forces were better armed, fed, clothed, tented and doctored than were those against whom they fought, yet the defeated have not only managed to make their own living without pensions in a country ravaged and wrecked by war, but have helped pay the pensions so lavishly bestowed upon the victors. The strain upon the life powers of the Confederate soldier was greater than that upon the life powers of the Federal soldier, the former has not only managed to keep up with his neighbors who didn't carry the musket, but, as a rule, has surpassed them in the great struggle of life.

From this state of facts one of two conclusions is unavoidable—either the Confederate soldier was physically, mentally or morally the superior of the Federal soldier, or success has made a failure of the one, while failure has made a success of the other.—Louisville Times.

EDMOND'S BRANCH.

Having seen nothing from this place in your valuable paper for some time past I give you a few items that you may publish if you will.

Corn gathering is about completed and the yield is so short that the farmers think if they pull through it will be a tight squeeze.

Rev. Andrew Elkins of Lincoln county, Va., a representative of the Baptist persuasion preached for us last Saturday and Sunday.

As better times are anticipated quite a number of young folks have launched on the matrimonial sea of late.

Upper Morgan's Creek or "Sweet Morgan" as it is sometimes called is into what the people call a "law twist."

M. F. Jordan and family will remove from our vicinity soon. Westly Estep has removed to Central City Va. William Savage is erecting a new dwelling which when completed will be quite an ornament to our vicinity.

R. F. Crank's magnificent building is nearing completion. Alex. Lamasters has recovered from a severe attack of fever. Jep. Meek is becoming a practical horse jockey.

John McDyer was in our vicinity a few days ago on business.

Miss Dora Savage has returned from an extended visit among friends and relatives on East Fork. Sol. Lawson agent for the Salt River Route was still selling a few tickets last week.

Attorney J. M. Riffe made a business trip to Cherokee last week. Madam rumor has it that George Cooke and family are to become permanent residents of our vicinity. We heartily welcome such men as Mr. Cooke among us.

Mrs. George Carter made a flying trip to Cat a few days ago. The pleasant smiles and hand shakes of A. O. Carter our circuit Clerk elect were gracing our vicinity recently.

J. C. Marcum has removed from our vicinity to Fallsburg. Several of the Morgan's Creek boys made a business trip below last week.

G. B. Carters school in Newcomb, has closed.

Jep. Meek one of our best neighbors has subscribed for the News, a thing that every business man should do. COUNTRY GREENHORN.

GLENWOOD.

There were several cases tried in Justice Webb's court last week, one for breach of the peace, one for disobeying the school law, two for failing to comply with their contract and one that the court nor anybody else knew nothing about. The aggregate cost of these cases amounted to about thirty dollars, while the fines only amounted to a few cents.

Mr. Hiram Jordan of Portsmouth, and brother-in-law to Mr. Wesley Webb, has been here for several days chatting with old friends. Mr. I belonged to the once Republican party, and missed passage on the old Salt Packet, and chose to remain with his Democratic friends for awhile.

Most all the sick are getting better, except a little boy of Mr. W. H. Queens, who at this writing, has but little chance of recovery.

Our public school closed here last Thursday, and at night there was one of the best exhibitions that was ever held here. For several weeks something of the kind had been talked of but no one outside the school had any idea of what was being gotten up for the entertainment of the little ones. By 7 o'clock the house was packed, many finding it difficult to find standing room. The scholars had looked forward for this time, as the one hour of their lives, and they with their teacher spared no pains to have everything ready before the performance began.

The managers were Miss Maggie Graham, Miss Mary Graham, Miss Jossie Jordan the teacher, Miss Sophronia Webb, Mr. Jerry Cooksey, Thos. Webb, Joel Cunningham and L. D. Webb. Mr. Eliza Adams was chosen organist and gave us some fine music on the organ. Much credit is given Miss Jordan for the way in which she has conducted the school, and the interest she has taken in her pupils, and I have no doubt that this last act will be stamped on the brain of those little ones for years to come, and it might be expected that some of them will help fill the abyss of fame with names that will be a credit to their country.

We now must bid farewell to school, and scenes of pleasure dear. To teachers, friends and scholars all, And shed the parting tear. But shall we never meet again To con our lessons o'er In this bright home of happiness. Ah some will meet no more. RAMBLER.

VESSIE, KY.

This pretty weather has given the Republicans a safe voyage over the briny waves.

J. D. Fannin was with us a few days last week on business. He left for home Thursday.

E. Lockwood and wife were visiting at V. B. Shortridge Sunday. Mr. Jame and Miss Mary Shortridge called on friends on Saturday, returning Monday.

Miss Dora Barrett, will teach a select school at No. 11. Miss Dora is a good teacher and we do not hesitate in saying that she will give universal satisfaction.

George Belcher is tickled nearly to death, not the election altogether nor because he sold his mules. Geo. says it's a boy and a Democrat, that tickles him so.

W. T. Riffe made a trip to Ashland last week and says he was so well pleased that he intends to go again some time.

John Dowdy says he will move in spite of everybody. We have tried to keep John, yes even begged and nearly cried to him to get him to stay. It's just this way when we get a first class citizen, somebody will do something to him then he gets mad and moves. CARO.

1893. HARPER'S WEEKLY, ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly is acknowledged as standing first among illustrated weekly periodicals in America. It occupies a place between that of the hurried daily paper and that of the less timely monthly magazine. It includes both literature and news, and presents with equal force and felicity the real events of current history and the imaginative fictions of fiction. On account of its very complete series of illustrations of the World's Fair, it will be not only the best guide to the great Exposition, but also its best souvenir. Every public event of general interest will be fully illustrated in its pages. Its contributors being from the best writers and artists in this country, it will continue to excel in literature, news, and illustrations, all other publications of its class.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia on lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug-store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful, and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by Louisa Drug Co.

Married, Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's father, at this place, Mr. Melroy Copley to Miss Laura Endicott, daughter of Mr. John Endicott. The bride is a handsome and worthy young lady, and the groom is an upright and promising young man. The news wishes them long life and happiness.

The firm of Leonard & Co., consisting of three practical millers, has taken charge of the Louisville Roller Mills and will push the business to the highest point. There is a good field here for a large business in this line and our citizens hope to see them succeed. They have been engaged for several days in making repairs on the machinery, preparatory to beginning work.

Rev. Hiner's "talk" last Sunday evening on "Right-Of-Way-People" is considered by many the best of the very good popular discourses by that gentleman.

Go and hear the next one. You may not indorse all that may be said, but you will not go to sleep. The preaching, assisted somewhat by the music, is filling the church every Sunday.

A telegram was received here Friday from Missouri announcing the death of Felix Garred, son of Mr. D. W. Garred, of this county. Orders were sent for the transmission of his body to his old home; and on Sunday it arrived by special train. The burial took place near the old home, eight miles above Louisville, on Monday.

Deceased was 33 years old and unmarried. He died rather suddenly, from pleurisy. During several years past he has been in various parts of the West, but for some time he and his brother Dick had been located in southwestern Missouri, where their business prospects were bright.

Death received the most unwelcome, possibly, by those in the prime of life; and it calls forth the sympathies of strangers, even, to see a promising, hopeful young man stricken down by death's ruthless hand. We offer a full measure of sympathy to the relatives.

Burgess-Thompson. A prominent and interesting wedding occurred last Wednesday at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. T. J. Burgess, nine miles above Louisville. It was the marriage of his handsome second daughter, Miss Corilla, to Dr. Z. A. Thompson, of Tennessee.

The affair was elegant in all its appointments. A special train from Ashland took the groom and some of the guests to the Burgess place, arriving at 11:30 a. m. Quite a large number of invitations were sent out, but owing to the death of an uncle of the bride a few days previous to the wedding, a recall was made of the greater part of them, and only about twenty guests were present.

By 12:30 o'clock everything was in readiness and the guests were assembled in the tastefully decorated parlor, when the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march announced the approach of the bridal party. Following Miss Julia Kline and Mr. E. T. Flinn, the maid of honor and the groom's best man, came the principals. Advancing to the center of the room, they halted under the center of an arch of evergreens, and in a brief but graceful ceremony were made one. Without waiting for congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at once led the way to the dining room. A glance at the menu card gave promise of a feast fit for the gods; and it is safe to say that the hopes of the most pronounced epicure present were fully realized in the spread. After this interesting part of the program had received a full share of attention a short time was pleasantly spent in conversation; then came the preparation for departure. The train was boarded at 2:15 p. m. The couple will extend their bridal tour to Florida.

The bride looked her best in a travelling suit of navy blue broadcloth, with flowers. The bridesmaid was also elegantly dressed and carried a bunch of rare flowers.

There were a number of elegant presents—especially in silverware.

The bride is one of those whose graces of mind and manner are of so high an order as to make it difficult to find words to fittingly rehearse them. She possesses in an unusual degree those qualities which combine to make the attractive and admirable woman, and it is conceded that a more beautiful young lady has not grown up in our midst.

The groom is a physician, but has for several years been more actively engaged in extensive railroad contracting, and it was while engaged in the latter business in this section that he met his bride, nearly two years ago. He is a native of Tennessee and comes of a prominent family.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kline, is the bride's intimate school friend, and is from Lexington, Ky. Mr. Flinn, the groom's man, is a civil engineer, most favorably known here. Rev. H. J. Bevis, of the M. E. Church South, performed the ceremony.

For Burglary. Wm. Edwards was brought in Sunday by Sheriff Wilson upon a charge of burglarizing T. J. Dalton's store, on George's creek, recently. An examining trial before Judge J. W. Rice was set for Monday. Edwards waived examination and his bond for appearance at Circuit Court was fixed at $500. Failing to execute it he was landed in jail.

A Good Suggestion. In time of peace prepare for war, is an old adage that we might often profit by observing. We often urged our people to prepare to fight fire by placing barrels at every available place to catch water. A few barrels will cost but little, the water cost nothing, but if your house burns down for want of a little water to put it out—that costs something.—Jedico Advance.

For Holiday, Birthday and Wedding Presents go to Conley's.
